Dear Young Musician,

You are invited to a Festival Young Musicians' Day as part of the Lincolnshire International Chamber Music Festival Summer Festival 2019. The event will take place on Friday 19th July in the Harper Building at Lincoln Minster School.

We are delighted that Jess Gillam (Wind Finalist, Young Musician of the Year 2016) will be giving the concert in the evening. As part of the day, Jess has been kind enough to offer an open rehearsal to the young musicians attending the day. Participants of the education day will also be eligible to receive one free ticket to this concert, or any other concert of the festival, when booking with two paying adults. Tickets are subject to availability. Please note, the tickets for this event are selling fast, so do not hesitate to book once you have returned the application form.

The day will comprise of a morning session led by Noel Bertram, and specialist music tutors. We will work on several pieces, with a chance to showcase new skills and these pieces in a performance workshop at 12:30, which will be open to family & friends. The day is open to all instruments and abilities. It will be a fantastic chance to take part in an ensemble with other young musicians in the county and experience some new styles of music. Even if you haven't played in an ensemble before, this will be the perfect setting for you to try it out!

The event is a free event, provided by LICMF.
